⁶ Depending on the (technical) specifications of the Customer's request, Isabel will classify the Customer's request as a standard or non-standard intervention. An intervention will be classified as standard when, for example, the Customer simply cannot install Isabel 6 on its PC due to a conflicting software. An intervention will be classified as non-standard when, for example, it concerns an intervention regarding Isabel Corporate Synchronizer (ICS).

⁷ Isabel reserves the discretionary right to accept or not, the Customer's request for a report, but will not unreasonably refuse such request. If the request is accepted, the delivered work will be invoiced to the Customer, based on a calculation to be provided upfront by Isabel N.V./S.A.
